

Give Me Back My Breath

If you want it you can have my heart
'Cause it already belongs to you
And you can take my mind apart
And keep what you find when you're through
You may as well take my dreams
They're getting wrapped around you anyway
You make my senses come alive it seems
They start to leave me when you're walking away

But there's one thing I need back from you
You can save me from a little death
It's something I need more than you do
Give me back my breath
You got to give me back my breath

The first time I saw you
You started taking my breath away
Whatever it is that you do
I was wheezing by the end of the day
A whisper wind moving through the pines
I feel it blowing through my body too
Making sounds like continual sighs
Til I start breathing again it'll do

But there's one thing I need back from you
You can take me past a little death
But don't wait too long 'cause I'm turning blue
Give me back my breath
You got to give me back my breath

If you want it you can have my heart
Just give me back my breath
You can take my mind apart
But you got to give me back my breath
Oh you got to give me back my breath ( repeat)
