

I Can't See You Anymore

My life is going to be so boring I don't know what I'm going to with myself
Alternatives aren't worth exploring I just leave them on a basement shelf
People knock and I won't open the door
When I can't see you anymore - I can't see you anymore

At night I'm staring up at the ceiling I'm just trying to keep my mind that blank
Instead of memories there's just a feeling of your lips and sips of wine we drank.
And tomorrow turns to dust on the floor
When I can't see you anymore - I can't see you anymore

My life is going to be so boring What can I do when I don't really care
I'm like a boat that's lost its mooring Drifting towards the edge of nowhere
I should have seen this coming long before
I can't see you anymore - I can't see you anymore

I think I'll travel out west to the mountains and maybe on down to the sea
Watch the waves crashing up into fountains Blowing salty sea spray over me
And I'll take long lonely walks along the shore
I can't see you anymore - I just can't see you anymore

My life is going to be so boring I guess I'll have to find a way to get by
I watch the rain while it keeps on pouring from a lonely and dark and wet sky
And things will never be like before
When I can't see you anymore I can't see you anymore
I'll try to mend the heart that you tore
I can't see you anymore - I just can't see you anymore
